

My senses

Our senses are very important. We use them every day without even noticing it. We smell and taste our food. We listen to music, watch television and touch different textures.